REPORTS ON WORK IN '27

LIVESTOCK, CORN AND LEGUMES
CHIEF EXTENSION PROJECTS.

SOIL TESTS ARE MADE

Much Lime Used in County.—County
Agent Urges Action on Dairy Development.

Livestock, corn and legumes were the major projects in the program of extension work in Nodaway County last year. J. Ross Fleetwood, extension agent, told the members of the County Farm Bureau, in annual meeting here this afternoon at the courthouse.

The minor projects were poultry and home economics. "Due to the large acreage of corn in the county and the interlocking of livestock and legumes where corn is important, the three majors are definitely forced upon a program of work," Mr. Fleetwood said, but added "there are a number of other projects of major importance but undoubtedly the above three first."

Poultry fills a more or less important place on every farm, the extension agent said further, and no extension program would be complete which did not include some work in this line. Women's club representatives decided upon home management as the project most needed in their communities, according to Mr. Fleetwood's report.

Summary of Activities.

The activities of the extension service in the county for the last year were summarized as follows:

"Soil tests were made on twenty-three farms, most of which later applied limestone. A total of 1,450 tons of limestone were used during the year."

"The lime bin at Maryville handled 427 tons of lime. Twenty-six men used lime from the bin for correcting soil acidity, while thirty secured small quantities for making mineral mixtures. One hundred and sixty tons of acid phosphate was used by fifty farmers during the year."

"Inoculation was ordered for 7,189 pounds of legume seed."

"Twenty meetings on hog sanitation were held in various parts of the county. Largely as a result of these meetings, fifty farmers used the hog sanitation plan this year."

"A cow testing association with seventeen members was organized and is now testing cows for its members."

"Five poultry flocks were re-certified and one new flock was certified."

"Sixty-five hundred pounds of dynamite were used by the drainage districts of Guilford and Ravenwood, cleaning out their lateral ditches, proving the efficiency of this material for the purpose."

"Thirty women's clubs have been organized or re-organized to co-operate with the Extension work in home economics."

Nineteen 4-H Clubs.

"Nineteen 4-H clubs were organized and completed the year's work as standard clubs. One hundred and sixty-five members were enrolled and 158 completed the year's work, an increase of 192 per cent over last year's enrollment and completion."

In the general course of the year's work, the county agent has made 214 farm visits, had 1,380 office callers, 755 telephone calls and written 1,106 personal letters. He has traveled 5,220 miles within the county and attended or taken part in fifty-eight meetings with a total attendance of 3,599 persons. In addition, eight demonstration meetings were held with an attendance of 193 and ten leaders training meetings with an attendance of 202, or a total of seventy-six meetings and a total of 4,009 in attendance."

Perhaps the extension work which resulted in the most publicity to the county was the work with the 4-H clubs. From the calves fed by the club members most of the first prizes were taken at the Interstate Baby Beef show at St. Joseph. Max Wray won champion Angus and grand champion; Eugene Espey, champion Short-horn and reserve champion; Charley Burch, fourth Angus; Clifford Floyd sixth Angus; Landis Burch, eleventh Angus; county group first; carlot, first. In addition the county livestock judging team was first.

The following were the Pig club winners: Kenneth Evans' champion Duroc barrow; champion Duroc pen of three barrows; grand champion barrow and pen of barrows; Gordon Medsker, champion Hampshire barrow and pen of barrows.

His picture is used in The Fraternalist, a Masonic publication, which says: "The new commander was created a Mason in a St. Joseph lodge in September, 1920, and within eight years of activity and faithfulness in Masonic work his companions have presented him the highest honors they can give in the York Rite of Masonry." Mr. Alderman is a thirty-second degree Mason.

FAVOR UNION; DELAY ACTION

M. F. A. MEMBERS MEETING
HERE, POSTPONE A VOTE.

WANT DEFINITE PLAN

Signing of Producers' Contract May Be Insisted Upon as Part of Farmer Merger.

Nodaway county members of the Farmers Association favor unification of the farmer organizations of the county.

They went on record to this effect yesterday at a special meeting at the courthouse, but did not vote to join in a merger until a definite program of unification has been presented.

According to Secretary Miles Spargur, a resolution, offered by Aca Akin of Elmo, was adopted as follows:

"It is the sense of this meeting to go on record as approving a plan of merger and that the chairman appoint a committee to work out a plan to offer to the M. F. A., W. A. Needles, president, said after the meetings he had not appointed the committee."

The result of the M. F. A. meeting is that the committee to be appointed will meet with the general committee of nine from the Farm Bureau, M. F. A. and Farmers Union, to draft a definite program to be followed by the United Farm body.

Following the drafting of the code, the M. F. A. again will meet to vote definitely on the proposition of merging.

The committee of nine, in its recommendation last month for unification, suggested only that the farm bodies unite under one head and did not feel it had powers to draft program of work.

The M. F. A. yesterday did not feel justified in voting for a merger "without some definite plan in view," the secretary said after the meeting.

The Farm Clubs of the M. F. A. in this county had not expressed any view on the proposed merger until yesterday, when a resolution was offered by the Luteston Farm club, and approved by the M. F. A. The resolution was to the effect that if the other two farm organizations, (the Farm Bureau and the Farmers Union), would favor the producers contract, the Luteston club would favor a program offered by the Bureau and the Union.

Short talks were made at the meeting by Charles Clements, W. E. Allen and Frank Miller. The minutes of the general unification committee were read at the meeting and a long discussion followed, which branched off at times to the producers contract.

During the meeting the members sang a farm club song which was written by Mrs. W. A. Needles.

Mr. Miller, president of the Farmers Union, said that his organization would hold its annual meeting January 28 in Maryville at which time the proposed merger would come up for a vote.

Mr. and Mrs. William Jones have sold to Nettie B. Evans a tract of land west of Burlington Junction and several lots in Ware's addition to that city for $8,400, according to a warranty deed filed at the recorder's office.

Sells Steers at $13.

Russell Allen of Nodaway County sold at the St. Joseph market Wednesday a load of 1922 pound steers at $13.

WOULD END FARM GUESS

FARMER NEEDS EXPERT ADVICE,
P. B. NAYLOR SAYS.

LIKE OTHER BUSINESS

Agriculture Must Be Industrialized and Commercialized, State Extension Agent Asserts.

Stressing a system of rural education adequate to serve the farmer's needs, Paul B. Naylor, state extension agent, Missouri College of Agriculture, this afternoon gave an address before the annual meeting of the Nodaway County Farm Bureau on "Taking the Guess Out of Farming."

Mr. Naylor said it really was astonishing that here in Nodaway County, where agriculture is working with a capital of approximately 60 million dollars and with 3,500 men engaged in farming "you have only one expert (the extension agent) to advise you in your business."

In every other line of business many experts are employed, and he cited the steel industry, which engages thousands and thousands of experts to advise in better and more economical production. Mr. Naylor emphasized education along the lines of scientific farming.

"The farmers cannot continue to compete with the world by using the methods followed twenty-five years ago. Science has taken much of the guess out of farming," he said.

A False Attitude.

Mr. Naylor said in part: "The farmer sometimes takes the position that he ought to know more about his farm and his farming business than others who are not farming. This is a false position. It is not true in other industries and it is not true in farming."

"If agriculture could be industrialized and commercialized, and the same business and economic principles applied to the act and art of farming as are applied in the manufacturing industry or the management and direction of a chain store business, the farming people, as a class, and the farmer, as an individual, would not have to have any more brains than the average man engaged in other industries. Now, if it is a fact that a man cannot rise above his educational advantages, where is the hope of building a better agriculture and a better rural life condition? It is evident that a rural educational system must be established that will fit him to handle his industry. Such an educational system is established that will give the farmer an opportunity to acquire an education that will fit him to handle his industry. Such an educational system is not a local community or school house problem."

"It is the state's and nation's business to see to it that a rural educational system is established that will give the farmer's son and daughter an equal chance to acquire an education with any man's son and daughter. When this idea is fixed in the minds of great educators, when the leaders in industry, commerce, and finance have been sold this idea, when agricultural publishers have accepted this principle, then the masses of people will fall in line and the state and federal governments will take a hand in rural education."

Day of One-Room School Past.

"I would not dare say, nor do I desire to say, that the local rural school has been a failure. It has not. But the day of the one-room rural school has long since passed. It has performed its service, but in a modern system of education for rural people, it is no longer adequate. It does not and cannot answer the requirements of modern times."

"Every survey that has been made proves that a man's ability as a farmer is not according to his backbone but according to his head."

"I know and you know that many thousand farmers now on the land never had a chance to learn agriculture. Their schools did not teach it. Public opinion was against the idea that a farmer needed book knowledge or to know the results of scientific research in agriculture in order to be an outstandingly good farmer. Agriculture must be put on a business basis and the application of scientific truths of agriculture must be applied as in other industries."

"There has been remarkable advancement. Scientific research in agriculture has acquired knowledge along (Continued on page 6).

Dr. James Offered a Trip to Europe

Brother of Former Minister Here Gives Him All-Expense Tour as Christmas Gift.

Dr. C. C. James of Cameron, district superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and formerly pastor of the First M. E. Church of this city, found in his Christmas stocking a trip to Europe with all expenses paid, according to the Bethany Clipper.

Dr. James confided the news to official members of the Methodist Church of Bethany Sunday night at the second quarterly conference. To give him an opportunity to take advantage of the gift, the board of the Bethany church voted to combine the third quarterly conference with the session at the close of the year.

Dr. James and his oldest brother, George James, a contractor of St. Louis, will leave about the middle of May on the trip, which was offered to them by another brother, Harry James of New York City. They expect to visit in England, Scotland and Paris for six weeks.

Dr. James was born in England and this is his first visit.

REELECT ALL BUREAU HEAD

MEMBERS FAVOR MERGER OF FARM ORGANIZATIONS.

FLEETWOOD RETAINED

Report of Secretary D. O. Belt Shows
$3,438.72 Expended for Extension
Work Last Year.

Ernest Wray, who lives northeast of Maryville, today was re-elected president of the Nodaway County Farm Bureau at the annual meeting held at the courthouse.

George Ulmer, jr., near Hopkins, was re-elected vice president and D. O. Belt of Maryville was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The Farm Bureau took the same action regarding merger of the three farmers organizations in the county, as was taken yesterday by the Missouri Farmers Association. The Bureau voted in favor of unification, but the motion carried with it a provision that the chairman of the meeting, who was Mr. Ulmer, should appoint a committee of three to meet with a committee from the M. F. A. and Farmers Union, whose duty it will be to draft a constitution and program of work. The Bureau at its next meeting will vote upon the code as presented by the committee.

J. Ross Fleetwood, extension agent, was re-appointed by the Bureau for the ensuing year.

The executive committee, with an alternate in each township, was elected as follows:

Lincoln, C. C. Younger, E. B. Hamilton.

Nodaway, C. H. Caldwell, J. H. Houston.

Monroe, John McMahon, H. D. Mitchell.

Polk, Roy Lippman, Alfred Jones, south of Maryville.

Union, W. B. Porter, W. E. Hinton.

Atchison, J. A. Gragg, Sonner Johnson.

Grant, Emmett Byrge, W. H. Go-forth.

Independence, G. L. Logan, W. F. Kennedy.

Jackson, Alfred Crater, B. K. Lewis.

Jefferson, W. C. Eckery, Clem Meyer.

White Cloud, R. M. Evans, Fay Cor-tough.

Washington, T. Medsker, V. P. Laughlin.

Green, H. D. McDonald, L. T. Murphy.

Hopkins, Frank Miller, R. A. Turner.

Hughes, R. E. Geyer, T. H. Acklin.

The report of the secretary-treasurer, Mr. Belt, showed that extension work, which is the chief phase of Farm Bureau, cost the Bureau $3,438.72 last year. The Bureau ended the fiscal year with a deficit of $378.39.

It received $1,999.94 from the county, $2,110 from the membership fees, $11.25 from the Bank of Hopkins as a 25 per cent dividend. Total expenditures were $4,501.98.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Wray of Pickering were among the visitors to Maryville today.

Ed Hamilton, John LaMar, Aca Akin and Fred Snodderly of Elmo were Maryville visitors today.

TO EXECUTE AS PLANNED

MRS. SNYDER AND GRAY MUST DIE AFTER 11 TONIGHT.

A STAY HELD ILLEGAL

Attorney for Gray Tries to Get Writ of Habeas Corpus From Federal Judge But Fails.

New York, Jan. 12.—Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray must die in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison shortly after 11 o'clock tonight.

Their attorneys failed in every move to circumvent the execution and no possible legal loop-hole seemed left.

Events moved rapidly during the day and each development tended to clinch more firmly the certainty of the execution.

A stay granted by Supreme Court Justice Aaron Levy was held illegal by Albert Ottinger, state attorney general, who ruled that Warden Lawes should proceed with the execution.

Fail to Get Writ.

Samuel Miller, attorney for Gray, conferred with Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard, seeking a writ of habeas corpus but apparently failed.

Warden Lawes was ready to complete the plans for the execution, although he withheld definite announcement at mid-afternoon.

A telephone conversation took place between Governor Smith in New York and Attorney General Ottinger today, and it was said the view was expressed that the chief executive felt there should be no hesitancy in carrying out the execution.

Won't Delay Execution.

As a matter of courtesy to Justice Levy, it was arranged for an assistant attorney general to appear before him this afternoon and, after informing him of the ruling, ask him to vacate his order.

In case Justice Levy refuses, the appellate court probably will be asked to vacate the order, but in any case, it was not believed the execution could be delayed.

Prison officials seemed to believe that the execution would take place tonight. Everything was ready except the last minute arrangements, such as tonsuring the heads of the prisoners for the electrodes, preparing their clothing, arranging their final meal and assigning the death house guards to their duties. Such arrangements were not due to start until this afternoon.

"We are waiting for word from Albany," Warden Lawes said. "I have no statement to make now."

Her Hope All Gone.

While lawyers and public officials spent the day in turmoil deciding her fate, Mrs. Snyder, her nerve broken and hope all gone, waited apathetically in her cell for death.

She and Gray learned of Justice Levy's stay from the morning papers. "I wonder how long that will last?" Mrs. Snyder commented dully to a matron.

Gray appeared unconcerned.

More Casualties to Nicaraguan Rebels

Five Killed in Clash With U. S. Marines, Nine in Air Raid.—Desertions From Guard.

Managua, Nicaragua, Jan. 12.—Rebel casualties were increased after a sharp skirmish between a combat patrol of United States marines and followers of General Augustino Sandino near Cujo, Tuesday, it was announced today.

Five rebels were killed. Nine others were killed in a bombing raid the same day near Quilich, it was announced previously.

There were no marine casualties and the marine patrol succeeded in taking the town of San Albino without opposition, it was announced.

The one marine mishap in the past sixty hours was when a second air crash occurred. None of the fliers was injured.

Also it was announced that a sergeant and thirteen members of the Nicaraguan guard had deserted from comotillo and were supposedly en route to join the Sandino forces. The deserters took a machine gun with them. A small force of marines and guardsmen is pursuing the deserters.

Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Cossins of Burlington Junction, were Maryville visitors today.

Governor Names His Road Bond Committee

Three Democrats, Three Republicans to Work Out Plans.—Will Meet
January 22.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 12.—a committee was appointed today to adjust differences between the state highway commission and the Missouri Automobile Club. The committee was appointed by Governor Sam Baker who will be one of the group.

First meeting of the committee was tentatively set by Baker for January 22. A compromise plan will be presented at that time, he said.

Baker will be chairman of the committee which will be composed of two other Republicans and three Democrats. The committee is:

C. D. Matthews, chairman of the highway commission.

John Mahang, head of the good roads bureau of the Automobile Club of Missouri.

L. E. Holland, former president of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce.

H. J. Blanton, editor of the Paris Appeal.

Anthony Buford, secretary of the Ozarks Chamber of Commerce and of the Northeast Missouri Chamber of Commerce.

MONOPOLY IN ELECTRICITY

FOUR COMPANIES CONTROL THE EQUIPMENT, COMMISSION FINDS

SUGGESTS REGULATION

No Adequate Provision Now to Oversee Interstate Operations, Federal Report Shows.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Reporting on an investigation into alleged monopolistic control of the electrical equipment industry, the Federal Trade Commission informed the Senate today that the General Electric Company produced more than 50 per cent of the electrical power equipment manufactured in the years between 1919 and 1923.

Four companies—the General Electric, Westinghouse, Allis Chalmers and Brown Boveri—dominate the electrical equipment industry, the commission said.

During the five year period, 1922-1926, the rate of profit of the General Electric ranged from 11.2 to 16.2 per cent and the rates of return on its investment from 14.3 to 22.8 per cent. Financial reports from 79 other companies in 1924 showed an average rate of return of 9.6 per cent.

Some Even Higher.

While the General Electric earned 15.1 per cent in that year, some of the individual companies in the General Electric system earned even higher rates the commission reported.

CHAMBERLIN IN NEW TRY FOR RECORD

Plane Forced Down Yesterday Takes the Air Again.—Attempt in California Postponed.

Roosevelt Field, New York, Jan. 12.—Clarence Chamberlin and Roger Williams took off from Roosevelt Field at 10:11:30 a. m., today on another attempt to regain the world endurance flight record for the United States.

A similar attempt yesterday by the fliers failed four hours after the start when their gasoline pump ceased to function, stopping the flow of fuel from the large storage tanks in the Bellanca plane to the gravity tanks in the wings, which feed the motor.

The New York-to-Germany pilot and Williams, a commercial flier, are after the mark which Germany took from the United States last summer when Edvard and Risties, the two German pilots, set a new record of 52 hours, 22 minutes and 31 seconds of continuous flying.

English Pair Up Tomorrow.

Mills Field, San Francisco, Jan. 12.—Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith and Lieut. George Pond today postponed their endurance flight until tomorrow.

Their plane, the "Spirit of California," had been fueled and waiting at the head of the runway since shortly after dawn but unfavorable winds caused them to delay the start.

Daytona Beach, Fla., Jan. 12.—Adverse winds today forced another postponement of the Brock-Schlee attempt to set a new endurance flight record.

DEMOCRATS TO HOUSTON

TEXAS CITY CHOSEN FOR NATION-AL CONVENTION.

JUNE 26 SUGGESTED

San Francisco Closest Contender for Meeting Place.—Smith Writes
Letter for Dinner Tonight.

Washington, Jan. 12.—The Democratic national committee chose Houston today as its 1928 convention site.

The official vote:

Houston 54; San Francisco 48; Detroit 1. Total number of votes cast 103; necessary for choice, 52 on final vote. This was the fifth ballot. Fifty-one votes were necessary for a choice.

The resolutions committee offered a resolution to hold the convention June 26.

The Balloting.

The results of each ballot follow:

	1st	2nd	3d	4th	5th
Houston	30	37	44	48	54
San Francisco	25	25	36	42	48
Detroit	23	24	19	10	1
Cleveland	11	13	6	3
Miami	6
Chicago	5

After the second ballot, an effort was made to adjourn the committee for one hour but committee members demanded that the roll calls continue.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Governor Al Smith of New York has sent Chairman Clem Shaver of the Democratic national committee a letter to be read at the Jackson day "Harmony Dinner" tonight, it was learned today. Its nature was not revealed. Smith had declined invitations to attend, and there had been speculation that there would be no message from him.

Houston, Tex., submitted a bid for the 1928 Democratic convention in the form of a $200,000 "certificate check" mailed to the Democratic national committee by its financial director, Jesse H. Jones of Houston.

Following a conference of Democratic leaders prior to formal presentation of the cities' convention bids, it appeared San Francisco was in the lead, with a $250,000 guarantee, with Houston a close contender and Detroit far in the rear because it could promise only $125,000. San Francisco in addition offered broadcasting and other concessions to the committee.

A COMMISSION PROBE OF S-4 WON BY G. O. P.

A Fight in Senate Gives Chance for Inquiry by Congress—Smith to Senate.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Republicans managed to succeed in steering President Coolidge's plan for a commission investigation of the S-4 submarine disaster safely out of the Senate naval affairs committee today by a strict party vote of 9 to 8.

Nine Republicans, including Senator Howell of Nebraska, voted in favor of the President's plan and eight Democrats against it.

Senator Swanson of Virginia announced for the Democrats, however, that a fight would be made against the resolution on the floor and there is yet a chance that the Democrats may win their fight for a Congress inquiry, instead of a presidential board investigation.

Swanson's proposal for an investigation by a Senate naval sub-committee was defeated.

Smith Report to Senate.

The Senate primary investigation committee will submit to the Senate today its report in the case of Senator Elect Frank L. Smith of Illinois, Chairman James A. Reed announced. Most committee members desire to submit only a record of the refusal of Smith to recognize the committee's right to try him in connection with his campaign expenditures, without giving any recommendation as to Senate action thereon.

H. D. Mitchell of Skidmore was a Maryville caller today.

Generally fair but with some cloudiness tonight and Friday; continued mild temperature.

Darrow Is Keeping Pledge Made by Son

Lawyer Defends Alleged Slayer as Result of Promise to Mother 25 Years Ago.

Montpelier, Vt., Jan. 12.—Keeping a pledge made by his son nearly 25 years ago, Clarence Darrow, noted criminal lawyer, appeared before the Vermont Supreme Court here today in an effort to save John C. Winters, convicted murderer, from the electric chair.

Winters was convicted of the first degree murder of Miss Cecelia R. Gullivan, formerly of Whitman, Mass., at Windsor. She was slain on the sleeping porch of her home several months ago.

The famous lawyer, who saved Loeb and Leopold from the gallows, entered the case as a result of a promise made by his son.

Young Darrow was involved in a runaway horse accident, in which a youthful cousin of Winters lost his life. At that time, the lawyer's son promised the dead boy's mother that his father would be at her service, if she ever needed him.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pistole of Hopkins were in Maryville today.

THREE BILLION FOR A 20-YEAR NAVY PROGRAM

More Cruisers Are Needed to Make First Class Navy, Secretary Wilbur Tells House Committee.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Secretary of Navy Wilbur urged today a twenty-year navy building and replacement program to cost $3,360,000,000.

At the end of this twenty-year program, the Navy should embark on another twenty-year program, to keep the Navy up to required strength, Wilbur told the House Naval Committee. He had appeared to answer detailed inquiries regarding the proposed immediate $800,000,000 five-year building program.

The secretary revealed the Navy has drafted a definite twenty-year program, but said the Navy does not believe it wise to make its details public now.

"Is this five-year program merely a starter then?" Representative Britton, Republican, Illinois, asked.

"Well, it might be put that way," Wilbur replied.

The Navy department, the secretary said, proposes an expenditure of $168,000,000 a year for twenty years.

Representative Vinson, Democrat, Ga., brought out that the proposed five-year program is the largest in "dollars and cents" ever submitted to Congress. He asked Wilbur directly if he meant, by his statement regarding details of the Navy's condition now, that the United States does not have a first class navy.

"Yes," Wilbur answered. "More cruisers especially are needed."

He told the committee he was in favor of arms limitation but only by agreement among the powers.

Mrs. W. A. Needles, Ravenwood, Writes Farmers' Battle Hymn

The following song, "Getting Together," was sung yesterday by the members of the Nodaway County Farmers Association at their meeting at the courthouse. It was written by Mrs. W. A. Needles of Ravenwood, wife of the president of the county M. F. A. It is set to the tune of "Marching Through Georgia."

"GETTING TOGETHER"

We're a loyal band of farmers, and we live in U. S. A.

We love our homes, we love our work. But who will get the pay?

Let us solve this problem in the good old-fashioned way While we are getting together.

Chorus

Hurrah, hurrah, united we will be

Hurrah, hurrah, we'll win the victory. Let honesty our motto be. From profiteers set free When we all get together.

We're a thoughtful band of farmers, and we live in old Mizzo. We've said "you'll have to show us," and we're going to show them too. That we are not so far behind That we can't pull things through. If we all work together.

The railroad operator and The manufacturer, too, The merchant and the miner Have gained their way right through. The dentist and the doctor both Have shown what they can do

By keeping step in their union. They've told us what to pay for things We need of them to buy. They figured up the cost price And made the gain quite high. But when it came to buying Of our stock and grain and such They said we'll give you JUST SO MUCH.

We're a merry band of farmers And we live in Nodaway. So let us find our market and Tell them what they will pay. Mr. Fleetwood, kind and good, Will help along the way. So let us all get together. —Mrs. W. A. Needles.

Salutatorian Tells Gratitude of M. H. S. Graduating Class

"After four years of effort the class of 1928 appears to claim its hard earned promotion to positions of greater opportunity," Glen Litsch, a member of the mid-year graduating class of the Maryville High School said this morning in his salutatory address at the class day exercises. "During this period this has been the move toward which we have climbed, and our success brings to us a certain feeling of pride."

"But having reached this place, we are still humble; we do not scorn the ladder by which we have ascended. We are truly grateful to each one who has made our progress possible. We admit our dependence upon each individual who has helped us climb. We make public acknowledgement of our debt."

"We thank our parents, without whose aid the effort would have been impossible. You have left us free to climb and when we have needed help you stood close by to give us support, love, kindly sympathy and admonition."

"We thank the members of the Board of Education who have given so untiringly of their time and energy that we might be blessed with the best high school facilities in the land. "We thank the members of the faculty who have so patiently and conscientiously aided on all occasions."

"To follow classmates, we are indebted for much inspiration that comes from warm friendships which we shall cherish in our memories always. Without all these, progress would have been impossible."

"But when he once attains the utmost round, He then unto the ladder turns his back."

"Not true of the class of 1928. Truly we must go onward and upward. There can be no standing still on an ambitious ladder. But however high we ascend there will always remain in our hearts a glow of gratitude for all those who have helped us climb. We hope, friends, that you will accept all future progress we may make as a thank offering for the services you have rendered," he concluded.

Tama Carlson and Beverly Martin read the class prophecy under the title, "1948." The prophecies were given in the form of items read in a newspaper twenty years hence.

Edward Dietz read the class will, which left the school and students the advantages of progress and greater education.

Musical numbers included a piano solo by Charmion Murray and a vocal solo by Neola Smith.

"When Jane Takes a Hand," in four acts, will be presented in the high school auditorium at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Mrs. Eunice Parr and Mrs. Carl Wray of Guilford were Maryville visitors today.

Do You Live In Never-Never Land

Does your family, too, live on the borders of Never-Never Land? Are you never quite out of debt, never quite caught up with the stack of monthly bills, never able to resist the whim of the moment and say firmly, "I won't charge it. I'll wait until I can pay cash and then see if I want it as much as I think I do."

Never-Never Land can be a very disturbing and worrisome place to build a home. Its citizens have tired eyes and dreary lines about the mouth that all of their finery won't eradicate.

Better follow the solid road of Pay-As-You-Go which insures freedom of mind and eventual independence. Buying only what you need and putting the savings obtained thru cash purchases into a home or bank account is the better plan. You can then enjoy life undisturbed by thoughts of what would happen if your earning capacity should suddenly cease and charge accounts come due. It is the difference between success and failure.

ROAD WORK IS INDORSED

NORTHWEST MISSOURI C. OF C. FAVORS EARLY COMPLETION.

AGAINST LARGER ISSUE

$120,000,000 Too Much, Delegates at Cameron Meeting Believe.—Want No. 36 Finished.

The board of directors of the Northwest Missouri Chamber of Commerce, at its regular quarterly meeting held at Cameron yesterday, endorsed the Missouri State Highway Commission's road work, pledged support to the commission's plan for completion of the state road program and expressed the hope that "amicable ground be found upon which all elements can come together" for the early completion of the 7,640 mile program in Missouri, in line with the efforts of Governor Baker and his newly appointed committee.

The board expressed its disapproval of the proposed 120 million dollar bond issue for roads on the grounds that it did not think such an issue would carry and its failure would mean a disastrous blow to road construction, and favored the "farm-to-market" road system.

The directors specifically urged the early completion of Highway 36 on the grounds that the opening of this road would be equivalent to doubling the width of Highway 40 from Kansas City in that thousands of cars now detoured to No. 40 would take their natural course across the state on No. 36 from St. Joseph to Hannibal. This can be done, the directors felt, with much less cost and equal advantage to widening No. 40 as some are now advocating. The board also expressed its opposition to constitutionally fixing for an indefinite time the automobile license and gasoline tax, as is being advocated in some quarters.

Among other routine matters to be taken up by the board was the question of dues and plans for financing the program of the Association. According to the plan adopted yesterday the yearly dues will be assessed by counties and on the basis of one-fourth cent per capita on the 1920 census figures. However, the board voted the dues to be collected for the first year would be on the basis of one-eighth of a cent per capita with authority to call for payment later in the year the other one-eighth of a cent if the projected program of the Association made additional funds necessary.

Up to the present time the Association has pledged itself to a program of good roads and more revenue for the farmer through extension of dairying in Northwest Missouri and a concerted effort for soil improvement in this part of the state.

H. H. Carlisle, president of the Association, presided at the meeting at Cameron yesterday. M. E. Seelman of Maryville, publicity director of the Association attended the meeting. The next quarterly meeting of the board of directors will be April 11 at Chillicothe.

VISION URGED ON BAPTISTS

NEED ALL TO WORK TOGETHER, SPEAKER SAYS.

ABOUT 100 ATTENDING

Churches of Six Towns Represented at District Meeting Held Here Today.

About one hundred persons attended the bi-monthly conference of the Baptist churches of Nodaway, Atchison, and Holt counties, which was held at the First Baptist Church here this morning and afternoon. Ministers, deacons, Sunday school workers and various other leaders in the church were present from Clearmont, Hopkins, Maryville, Mound City, Rock Port, and Tarkio.

An address was delivered this morning by Dr. George Burnett, of Nashville, Tenn. The speaker outlined policies of the Baptist church and urged the revival of testimonial meetings. He spoke at a banquet at noon today at which were gathered members of the Maryville church who were unable to get away from their businesses at any other hour during the meeting. Dr. Burnett delivered his address while the rest were eating.

"The Baptist needs to learn the lesson of working together," Dr. Burnett said. "We are great individualists. We believe every church member must care for his own soul and be responsible to God. But individualism must be united into a great body."

"The church must have a world vision. The church that fails to major in foreign missions will fail and ought to."

He pointed out the importance of messages which missionaries bring back to this country.

"We must be willing to sit at the feet of the missionary and learn from him," he continued.

"The world is too busy taking Christ as a Saviour and giving little heed to the fact He is the Lord and Master of the world. Too many sin and plead to be saved; few listen to the words of Him whom God gave to save the world."

The meeting was addressed this afternoon by Courts Redford, of the state office, at Kansas City. D. H. Hawerton, district evangelist, was also here for the conference.

At the afternoon meeting reports from the various churches were made by secretaries, followed by round table discussion.

PERFECTS AN EGG CANDLER

HOPKINS MAN'S INVENTION HANDLES LARGE NUMBER.

APPLIES FOR PATENT

Machine Complies With Law Which Requires Eggs to Be Turned Over.

An egg candler has been perfected by Loren Gillispie of Hopkins which it is hoped will prove a boon to concerns which handle large numbers of eggs during the year and which may prove profitable to the inventor, as application for a patent has been made.

The first news of the machine was brought to Maryville this week by Frank Barrett of Hopkins, deputy finance commissioner, who said Mr. Gillispie, who is connected with the Farmers Exchange, a unit of the Farmers Union, had invented a candler which handles three dozen eggs at one time.

By the present universal method of candling eggs only six can be handled by hand at one time and in a large number of places only two at a time. The Hopkins Journal explains the method employed by Mr. Gillispie:

"With this new device three dozen eggs can be handled at a time, the machine turning the eggs completely around and back. It removes six dozen eggs at a time from a case at one operation and replaces them in the same way. No candler is used in the state as the law requires that the eggs be turned over and this is the first device that meets with the requirements of the law and will no doubt meet with ready sale as it is so much faster and so much better than the old hand way."

While Mr. Gillispie has no estimate as yet on the cost of manufacturing the machines, it is thought the candler can be made to sell at a cost of about $150. When assembled, the machine occupies a space of about 2x6 feet and does the work so nicely, there is no question about its practicability."

Short Sessions of Circuit Court Held

One Divorce Granted Yesterday and Rulings Made in Several Other Cases.

Short sessions of circuit court were held yesterday afternoon and this morning and the courtroom was turned over this afternoon for the annual meeting of the Farm Bureau.

A divorce was granted yesterday to Elma Stone from Fred Stone and custody of their minor son, Drexel, was awarded to Mrs. Stone.

The court overruled a motion for a new trial in the incorporation proceedings of the White Cloud drainage district, A. L. Holaday, et al., petitioners, and the defendants excepted to the rulings.

The preferred claim of the Federal Reserve Bank against the Bank of Hopkins was stricken from the docket.

The transcript of the burglary and larceny charges against Elvis Nelson, on a change of venue from Gentry county, were filed today.

Several back tax suits were dismissed. They were:

Edith Glenn, collector, against E. F. Archer, demurrer sustained, judgment for defendant; dismissed as to J. F. McManus.

Bess Thorp, collector against Thomas Hickerson, et al; Nettie B. Murray, et al; Lydia and James Murray; and J. S. Friend, collector for Burlington Junction against Mrs. Martha Geise, et al, and Mrs. Dalby Bridges, et al, defendants default.

The note suit of the Northwestern Bank of Burlington Junction against Roy E. Lyle was settled and dismissed. Back tax suit of Bess Thorp against Lenora D. Winters, et al, dismissed.

Hopkins Editor for Phares as Chairman

The name of W. F. Phares, of Maryville, is mentioned in connection with the chairmanship of the state of Missouri of the Republican State committee and a better man could not be chosen for this high position. He is an astute politician, clean as a hound's tooth and a man of commanding appearance with such a pleasing personality that he makes friends with all with whom he comes in contact. "Bill" Phares is a man you can tie to and his friends in Northwest Missouri feel that he is the man for the place and would handle the affairs of the party in a way that would redound to the glory of all concerned.—Hopkins Journal.

resume their work as instructors in the Concord school Monday. They accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Davis of Sidney, Ia., who are driving through. Mr. Davis also is a teacher at Concord. They said that of the entire 1,400 miles to Concord the only strip of road which is not hard surfaced is the twenty-mile stretch from Savannah to the end of the pavement south of Maryville.

When Mr. and Mrs. Bloomfield drove home from Concord, to spend the Christmas holidays here and at Bethany, they expected their stay to be comparatively brief. At about the time they were to have started back, however, a message from the superintendent of schools where they are teaching, told them that school had been closed for another week because of an outbreak of measles. Then another telegram said school was not yet ready to open.

FEDERAL MEN WILL INSPECT BATTERY HERE

Pay Day and Promotions Also Announced.—Organization to Sponsor Two Movies.

Announcement of Federal inspection, promotion of non-commissioned officers and the sponsoring of a motion picture was made today by Captain E. V. Condon, commanding officer of Battery C, 128th Field Artillery, Missouri National Guard.

The annual federal inspection will be made February 24 by Captain Dana C. Schmah, stationed at Minneapolis, Minn., who will make an inspection of the entire regiment. He will inspect the materiel, the administrative offices, and the personnel that day.

An inspection of the ordnance will be made February 1 to 3 inclusive by Mr. Allman of Omaha, an expert civilian ordnance employee.

The most encouraging announcement to the men of the Battery was that next Monday night will be pay day.

The men will be paid for drill attendance for the last three months. At this time $874.54 will be distributed.

The Battery will sponsor two army pictures at the Missouri Theater, January 31 and February 1. The feature will be "Dress Parade," sanctioned by the War Department and released last October. The scene of the picture is laid at the United States Military Academy, West Point. Another army picture, "Life O' Riley," which shows the life of cavalry officers at Fort Riley, Kan., will be shown the same night.

The promotions since January 1 in the ranks of Battery C follow:

Promotions to corporal-rank: Raymond Brazelton, Douglas B. Robertson, M. B. Conway, Marion D. Search.

Promotions to first class private: Frank B. Daniels, Harold C. Holt, Richard C. Nelson, Ross P. Nichols, Jerome H. Prather, Carol F. Russell, Francis W. Shonley, Emmett M. Sims, Vilas M. Spoor, Floyd D. Wyman.

There are now four officers and sixty men in the unit.

Big Monoplane Off for Trouble Center

Washington, Jan. 12.—Major L. B. Bourne and two companions took off from Anacosta naval air station here at 6:35 a. m., today in a huge tri-motored Fokker monoplane for Managua, Nicaragua.

They expect to turn the plane over to U. S. Marines now fighting the Nicaraguan rebel chief, General Sandino. Bourne planned to reach Miami, Fla., about 4 p. m., today, for refueling. He had not decided whether to stop over night in Miami or to continue the flight to Nicaragua this evening.

The three men were equipped with an inflatable rubber life boat, parachutes, a week's emergency field rations and rifles and pistols.

second Hampshire pen of barrows; Robert Partridge, Eugene Moore and Laverne Worl showed the fourth prize county group.

Speaking of dairy husbandry, Mr. Fleetwood said:

Urges Better Cows.

"Due to the recent interest manifested in dairying and the present inadequate facilities for dairy products, much interest and excitement has been aroused over the county in various methods of furnishing a better market. The county agent has been obliged to spend quite a lot of time investigating these various enterprises, making surveys, and investigating the manufacture of dairy products. At the present time nothing definite has been accomplished but with the available information now collected and interest as strong as it is, something definite should be accomplished during the coming year. One regrettable factor which has arisen due to the recent interest in dairying is the dairy cow trader, who is continually shipping in to be sold to beginners at a rather high price. This is a problem that is hard to cope with and ill effects of the practice will be felt for several years. It might be that some system of co-operative buying would prove of value. A trained man could then buy good cows for a number of men and do away with the speculative angle."

D. C. Belt's Project Described.

In the farm crops division Mr. Fleetwood said: "D. C. Belt, Maryville, carried on a very successful sweet clover demonstration this year. In 1925 the field in question was seeded to wheat and sweet clover was seeded in the spring of 1926, but a stand was not secured. During the summer of 1926 the field was tested for soil acidity and was found to require two tons of lime per acre for successful growing of sweet clover. The field was limed and 250 pounds of acid phosphate per acre added at the time the oats were sown. Then the field was seeded to sweet clover.

"As soon as the oats were harvested, the 15-acre field was divided into two parts, one-half of which fifteen dairy cows and heifers were run and on the other one-half 128 head of spring pigs were run. In spite of the heavy pasturing, the clover continued to gain until it was nearly knee high when the freezing weather came. As a result of a meeting held on this field, a number of farmers were heard to say that this was the first real stand of sweet clover they had ever seen. A good demonstration such as this in each community would undoubtedly do much toward popularizing sweet clover. This field is to be put in corn next year and it is planned to use acid phosphate and leave a check strip to show the effect of this fertilizer following a fine stand of clover."

The second annual clover and prosperity conference was held in Maryville March 2. It was well attended and experts from the College of Agriculture gave talks.

Hog Production Contest.

In telling about the hog production contest Mr. Fleetwood said: "Five entries were obtained in the hog production contest, the State Teachers College, Roy Lippman, Alfred Jones, E. R. Adams and George Hepburn. The only one of these entries to complete and meet the requirements was the State Teachers College entry. The report on these pigs is as follows:

"Number of sows, seven, farrowed seventy-one pigs; number of pigs at one week, sixty, breed, Poland-China; average farrowing date, February 16. The sanitation plan was followed. The estimated amount of feed on sows from breeding to farrowing, 200 pounds of tankage; 1,000 pounds of shorts; 1,000 pounds of oats; 1,000 pounds of corn, or equivalent in garbage, value $55. These hogs were fed the garbage from the College cafeteria, which served meals to about 200 students a day. The herdsman estimates that there was at least 200 gallons of garbage a day. During vacation the hogs received about 20 gallons of skim milk per day. Total value of feed $399.75. Total final weight, 11,210 pounds. Number of pigs August 16, fifty-two."

THE STORY, THUS FAR
TONY HARRISON, 13, is orphaned when JEFF HARRISON, his father, is shot in a poker game in Caldwell, Kan. He is befriended by GORDON W. LILLIE, a restaurant waiter, by JOE CRAIG, foreman of the Bar K ranch, who takes Tony to the Bar K to live, and by COLONEL TITUS MOORE, owner of the ranch, which is in the Cherokee Strip.

There the shy little boy meets RITA, tomboy daughter of Titus Moore.

Gordon Lillie gets an offer of a teaching post in the Indian school at Pawnee. There he lets his hair grow long and becomes known as PAWNEE BILL. After a fight with the school superintendent he is charged with attempted murder and flees the territory.

He and Craig are in Caldwell some time later when Craig decides to go after a saloon owner named SHAVER, former marshal of Caldwell, who Craig thinks is crooked and possessor of knowledge of the whereabouts of TOM BENTON, murderer of Jeff Harrison. He conspires with JOHN BLAKE, editor of the Caldwell paper, to declare war on Shaver in an editorial.

He suspects that Shaver will attempt revenge. That night, when an attempt is made to burn Blake's house, it is frustrated. The next day Craig and the marshal call on Shaver.

CHAPTER XVIII.

On a day late in September five men rode up the main street of Wellington and halted in front of a little bank. Three of them dismounted; two of these walked inside the bank and the third remained outside and leaned carelessly against the building.

Two men were loitering on the porch of the general store next to the bank, and to these the one who slouched so carelessly addressed a low-voiced remark.

"Just sit the way you are and keep on talking like nothing's going on."

The idlers looked up in surprise. It was a hot day and they had found it pleasant to sit in the shade and chat about the crops. They blinked in puzzled fashion at the dark-skinned, thin-faced man who had spoken and then their eyes encountered the two mounted men across the street, swift comprehension dawned in their faces and they sat as if stunned.

"It won't be more than two or three minutes," the thin-faced man continued; "and then you can go home and tell your kids you saw a bank robbery." He patted the gun at his hip.

"The first one that tries to get up or raises his voice'll get something that's bound not to do him any good."

The men on the porch of the general store turned a shade or two paler and made heroic efforts to continue their conversation, just as if nothing out of the ordinary were happening.

The thin-faced one smiled contemptuously and winked at his companions with the horses.

Inside the bank, a big, bearded man produced a gun and walking directly to the cashier, demanded that he open the safe and hand out all the money.

"My partner here," he said, indicating his companion, "has a bag in one hand and a six-shooter in the other. When all the money's corralled you kin stick it in the bag. We don't care much for the silver; give us all your bills."

Three minutes later, the pair backed toward the door and the bearded man delivered a parting admonition: "Don't anybody move outside the bank for five minutes and you'll all keep your health."

Then they calmly stepped into the street, their retreat covered by the man who had remained just outside. He allowed them to mount their horses before he sprang to his own saddle. At that moment the proprietor of the general store, attracted by the presence of something unusual outside, stepped to the door with a rifle in his hands. Before he could raise it to his shoulder or jump back from the doorway, the thin-faced man had fired. The storekeeper fell forward with a bullet through his heart and lay twitching and quivering on the floor of the porch at the feet of the two farmers.

"Now then," cried the one who had shot him, "you sit where you are or you'll get the same dose."

"Why in hell do you talk so much?" the bearded man demanded curtly. "Come on; your're wasting time." He dug vicious spurs into his horse and was off, the others at his heels.

Fifteen minutes later they thundered past the Lillie-Stettler flour mill. Al Lillie, brother of Pawnee Bill, saw them pass and was instantly suspicious; so much so that he ran for his revolver and emptied it in a futile stream of lead at the flying figures.

"Out of range!" he exclaimed disgustedly. "Shouldn't have left my gun so far away." He summoned his father and the two of them rode into Wellington.

The outraged citizenry pursued the bank robbers for hours, but returned late that night empty-handed; and word went out to Wichita, Caldwell, Arkansas City, Hunnewell and other towns to be on the lookout for the Benton gang.

Joe Craig, when he heard of it, fished fluently. A month later a Rock Island train was held up and several thousand dollars taken from the express car. This band, too, was led by a bearded man.

A letter from Pawnee Bill, postmarked Pawnee, informed Craig that the notoriety of the Benton gang had spread to that part of the country and that several of its members had been seen in the vicinity of Pawnee.

"At least, folks seem to think they belonged to the Benton gang. It's pretty generally thought that they have a hide-out down in that part of the country."

Concerning himself, Pawnee Bill wrote that the cattle deal had been completed. "Except for the sale. My stock is up near Wellington for the winter. Instead of buying Texas cattle, I bought down in the Chickasaw Nation. Seven of us started out for Texas, and down near Okmulgee we ran into a bunch of Creek Indians. They were on the warpath, although I didn't know it. They halted when they saw us and looked us over without saying a word, and I, like a fool, tried to swap a mule for one of their horses.

"They wouldn't answer me, but sat there for a few minutes more and then rode off. When we reached Okmulgee, deputies were being sworn in to go out and get the Creeks. I guess I was pretty close to losing my scalp."

"About the cattle. Down near the Texas border we ran into a cowpuncher named Billy Dunlap. He'd been down in Texas on the same business we were on and he said that talk about a drought in Texas was a lie. He insisted that better cattle could be bought in Oklahoma, and more reasonably. The Kansas farmers with me wouldn't believe him and insisted on going ahead, but I went with Dunlap. I bought a hundred head from Tandy Walker, a Chickasaw Indian who used to be an officer in the Confederate army. Dunlap bought his at the same time and we drove them up the Chisholm Trail to Kansas. I paid six dollars a head and expect to make a nice profit. Meanwhile, though, I've got to make some money while my cattle fatten, so I'm back in Pawnee for a while as interpreter."

"I might decide to go in the show business with Buffalo Bill. I guess I didn't tell you about it, but while I was here before I roomed for a while with a young fellow named Charlie Burgess. He's the son of the Burgess who spent so many years with the Pawnees in Nebraska and finally brought them down here. Charlie's working for Buffalo Bill, and he was down here to see if he could get hold of half a dozen Pawnees for Cody to put on in a Wild West show."

Major Bowman wouldn't let him take any Indians without permission from Washington, and he couldn't get permission. It seems that Charlie notified Buffalo Bill that there was a young man down here with long hair, who could make up like an Indian and do their dances and who seemed to be a great friend of the Pawnees. So Buffalo Bill writes me to bring along some Indians and join him. I found the letter here in my old rooming house. It had been laying around for two or three months. I wrote to Cody, and he says it's too late to do anything this year, but he wants me to line up some Indians and go with him next spring. I'm not aiming to get permission from the government. I guess I'll take the risk."

"Why don't you and Tony saddle up some day and come down to pay me a visit? I'm thinking it would be a great thing for the boy to spend a little time down here among the Indians. You know how kids are. Anyway, I'm right fond of Tony and I'd sure try to show him a nice time."

Craig showed the letter to Tony Harrison, and the boy expressed a keen desire to pay Pawnee Bill a visit.

"Lunno," said Craig, scratching his head, "Better see what the colonel says."

"Of course," declared Titus Moore, and smiled. "Two years and more of ranch life must be sort of monotonous to a boy that been used to traveling like you, Tony. I think it's a good idea. Craig, you go along with him; I guess I can spare you for a week. If Tony wants to stay longer, let him. I'll do him good."

The end of that week Craig and Tony Harrison left for Pawnee. The colonel, mounted on the spirited thoroughbred, Fancy, rode a few miles with them. "Now, Craig," were his parting words, "you take good care of that boy and don't let any Indian girls run off with him. He's getting to be about the most reliable hand I've got on the Bar K." He smiled broadly.

Craig grinned. "You just watch me ride herd on him, Colonel. I've promised him a couple of deer on our way down."

Craig grinned. "You just watch me ride herd on him, Colonel. I've promised him a couple of deer on our way down."

way down. We'll just sort of amble along and see what hunting we can find. I'm real anxious to see what he can do with a rifle, now that he's such a dead shot with a six-gun. I'm getting right proud of the boy."

He clucked to his horse. "Come on, Sergeant; let's be putting some dirt behind those feet of yours."

Titus Moore waved his hand to Tony and then sat watching the pair as they faced their horses eastward along the Salt Fork. He sat there until the man and boy faded out of vision behind the trees that lined the river, and a curious expression was in his eyes.

"Doggone it, Fancy," he said, "I don't know what's come over me. If anything happened to that boy I don't believe I'd ever get over it."

He bent over to pat Fancy's neck. "Let's go back, girl." He was very thoughtful on the ride back to the ranch house. His wife and Rita away and now Tony. It would be very lonesome on the Bar K for a while.

(To Be Continued.)

Tony visits with Pawnee Bill and is fired with a new ambition. In the next chapter.

Juvenile Court Move of Hickman Is Denied

Last Obstacle to a Speedy Trial Removed.—Insanity Evidence Sought in Arkansas.

Los Angeles, Jan. 12.—The last obstacle which might have delayed the trial of Edward Hickman has been removed and the slayer of Marion Parker will go on trial here January 25.

Hickman lost a contention which might have delayed his trial when Judge Robert Scott denied a petition, asking that the slayer be made a ward of the juvenile court.

Hickman was placed under control of the court last summer on probation after being found guilty on forgery charges.

Attorney to Arkansas.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 12.—The fight to save Edward Hickman, youthful Los Angeles murderer, from the gallows, was to shift into Arkansas tomorrow when his attorney, Jerome Walsh, expects to obtain depositions from officials of the Arkansas state insane asylum, for use in attempting to prove his client insane.

Mrs. Eva Hickman, Edward's mother, once was confined in the Arkansas institution, and Walsh will attempt to prove Hickman was suffering from "hereditary insanity" when he killed Marion Parker.

Walsh spent several days here, taking depositions from former high school classmates of Hickman. He was to complete this work today and leave for Little Rock early tomorrow.

Competition in the manufacturing of equipment is keen among the four large companies and small manufacturers, but prices fixed by the large companies are regarded as maximum above which the small companies "cannot hope to sell," the report declared.

Development of "superpower" systems, distributing power across state lines, presents a problem in regulation, as state control does not extend to interstate commerce, "and there is at present no adequate provision for federal regulation," said the commission. Holding companies having plants in one state but having charters from a different state are not subject to direct regulation, the commission pointed out, and declared "the opportunity for unchecked speculative pyramiding of holding company structures exists."

Exploited in Stock Sale. This situation, the commission added, "has been exploited by sale to the public of a large volume of holding company securities that are based upon merely their equities."

"Not only do the financial operations of holding companies escape state regulation, but the fees charged for their services to operating companies likewise occasion difficulty to state regulatory agencies," the report said. "State public utility commissions are forced to pass upon these fees without having adequate authority to obtain information regarding their reasonableness," it added.

agricultural lines, as much, if not more so, than has been acquired by scientific research in medicine and much of this scientific research and truth found out is being applied.

Knowledge From Resource. "Knowledge is not so much a result of experience as a result of research in a laboratory. Hogs died of cholera. Research work found a preventive. Cattle died of Black Leg. Research found a cure. The Department of Agriculture by research has conquered practically every disease known to livestock and laid the foundation for the conquering of many diseases of men.

"Thanks be to God, research in agriculture has taken the guess out of agriculture. Agricultural colleges and experiment stations, and the department of agriculture extension agents do not go out to the farmer and say, 'This is according to the signs of the zodiac of the almanac.' They said, 'These are the fundamental laws of soil improvement, which, if you apply you will build the land, and which, if you break, you will tear down the soil.'"

In closing, Mr. Naylor advised the farmer must lose his individuality and become a part of an industry.

"There must be a merging of the holdings of farmers, there must be mass action, mass production, and mass merchandising of farmers' products. There must be master minds clothed with the power to command, to change practices, and apply policies. In other words, agriculture must be industrialized and commercialized. The same business principles must be applied to agriculture as an industry as is being applied to highly organized interests that surround agriculture on every side before agriculture can be put on a business basis, give and receive an efficient and economic service."

Clean Kidneys by Drinking Lots of Water

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts.

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders.

Nearly Mad With Rheumatic Pains!

"Nearly every day, especially in damp weather, I suffered terribly from shooting pains and sharp twinges in my legs and arms. Nothing gave me any relief at times I thought I would go mad. When I tried 'St. Jacob's Oil' it was with no hope at all. The very first application brought relief and I have had perfect comfort since."

Good old "St. Jacob's Oil" certainly does relieve the pains and aches of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuritis, Lumbago and Neuralgia. This soothing, penetrating oil seems to reach right in through the pores and draw out all the pain and ache. And there is no burning of the skin. A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist, (adv.)

Telephone Meeting Held in Good Hope Community.—Farmers Union at Highland Tonight.

GOOD HOPE—Couldn't ask for a finer day than we have had today. The frost coming out of the ground is causing quite a little mud in the low places and shady spots, otherwise the roads are fine.

Not much doing in our community. Since the holidays things have taken a rest from the usual rush, just churning and getting things fixed up a little.

There is some corn moving. Abe and Tine Miller and George Curry have been hauling corn from the Cicero Farms place; Martin Harris is hauling from Oliver Young's farm, and Henry Brown is hauling some to John Morehouse. This corn is selling for 70 and 75 cents.

There are not many hogs around here in the feed lots except the fall pigs and stock hogs. There is some flu among the hogs while some men think it is hard colds. The hogs are not dying, although this sudden change in weather affects the hogs almost as badly as it does folks.

Mrs. Ray Dowling, Lew Coleman and John Morehouse have shipped hogs recently. The price of hogs is not very flattering these days.

A meeting of Line 14 of the Farmers Telephone Co. was called last Monday evening at the John Morehouse home. Guy Blanchard was elected president and Leman Morehouse was elected secretary-treasurer of the line. All dues are supposed to be paid this week. The dues are $1.25 a month until July 1st. The extra quarter is charged to defray the expenses of moving the switchboard last fall.

The Farmers Union meets at Highland this week, on Thursday evening. All members are urged to be present. The election of officers and other business will be attended to. Refreshments will be served and a social hour will follow.

The W. W. Club will hold an all day meeting with Mrs. Hanna and Mrs. King on Thursday of next week.

We had no Sunday school at Good Hope on New Year's day because it was extremely cold, but last Sunday was nice and we had a good attendance and interesting classes. We trust that others will start and attend regularly making it interesting and helpful to one and all. Come next Sunday at 10 a. m.

There are not many hogs around here in the feed lots except the fall pigs and stock hogs. There is some flu among the hogs while some men think it is hard colds. The hogs are not dying, although this sudden change in weather affects the hogs almost as badly as it does folks.

Mrs. Ray Dowling, Lew Coleman and John Morehouse have shipped hogs recently. The price of hogs is not very flattering these days.

A meeting of Line 14 of the Farmers Telephone Co. was called last Monday evening at the John Morehouse home. SPOOFHOUNDS ON ROAD TRIP

M. H. S. TEAM TO PLAY CHILLICOTHE AND TRENTON.

FIRST GAME TONIGHT

Both Opponents Are Keen Rivals of Maryville, and Basketeers Face Tough Assignment.

Eight Spoofhound basketeers of the Maryville High School left this morning on a two-days' jaunt, the second road trip of the basketball season. The Maryville team will play at Chillicothe tonight and tomorrow will face the Bulldog team of the Trenton High School. Both tough assignments.

The Spoofhounds have yet to be defeated but this trip will test their stamina. Chillicothe has been developing fast and Trenton always is hard to beat.

Last week when Chillicothe was playing at Bethany the Spoofhounds were trailing nine points with one quarter to play, but came back to stage a pace that netted thirteen points while Bethany made but one.

"Preparations are being made for a big game Thursday night when the Spoofhounds meet an old time rival on the basketball court," the Chillicothe Constitution said yesterday. "The rival is none other than Maryville and the Spoofhounds are coming here with the odds in their favor."

Trenton considers the Maryville tilt the feature game of the season and will be doubly eager to down a team coached by Hugh Graham.

The Maryville boys left at 7:30 a. m. this morning accompanied by mentors, Wallace Croy and Graham.

The boys who made the trip are Ralph Hahn, Ray McArthur, George McMurtry (captain), Donald Price, Roland Russell, Leeland Smith, Harry Wilson, and Harry Trullinger.

Mat Champion Put to Test by Dusek

Smaller Nebraskan Makes Lewis Look Bad but Finally Falls Victim to Headlocks.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 12.—Ed ("Strangler") Lewis, recognized as world's heavyweight wrestling champion because he holds a diamond belt symbolic of such, came near losing that belt last night to Rudy Dusek of Omaha in a three fall match.

Lewis, tipping the scales at 230, made the 205-pound Nebraskan look small. But the Omaha midget in a way succeeded in making Lewis look silly.

Lewis used his bonecrushing headlock to bring Dusek to the mat twice in almost two hours of wrestling.

Lewis took the first fall in 35:39. Dusek came back and took the second fall in 15:15. A head scissors and a double wristlock turned the trick for the stocky Nebraskan. Lewis with a series of withering headlocks, tossed Dusek for the third and deciding fall in 56:45.

Lewis is scheduled to wrestle Joe Stecher in St. Louis next month.

Joe Malewicz of Utica, N. Y., defeated Howard Cantowine of Iowa in the semi-final. Leo Wilkoff tossed Frank Price in the opener.
